

Break me just like the bread at Your table.
Lord, I am willing so take me
    'cause all on my own
I'm not able to be all that You ask me to be,
    so I lay my life at Your feet:
    please break me.

Cleanse me, give me a new heart and soul.
Washed in Your blood, let my sins be white
    as the new fallen snow.
I know Your grace is abundant and free,
    so I'll open my heart and receive;
    please cleanse me.

For You are the Author of Life.
You came to earth, and You died so we
    might live in Your love and Your light.
    You are the Author of Live.
You came to earth, and You died so we
    might live in Your love and Your light,
    in Your light.

Use me, make me Your hands and Your feet.
Lead me wherever You want me to carry
    Your message of peace and hope to a world that is hungry to know.
    Just say the word and I'll go;
    please use me.
